

Miller & Rhoads. Miller & Rhoads.

WEATHER FORECAST.—Tuesday showers.

More Bargains from our big New York Purchases go on Sale To-day.

Embroideries 10c., 12-14c. and 15c. yard, worth 50 to 100 per cent. more.

Sunday we advertised the wonderful bargains at 25c. a yard, in Nainsook and Swiss insertions and edges, worth from 39c. to 89c. a yard.

To-day we have some additional good things in the embroidery line.

Insertions and Edges 4, 5 and 6 inches wide for—

10c. a yard, worth 15c.

Swiss and Nainsook Insertions and Edges 5 to 8 inches wide—

121-2c. a yard, worth 15c. and 25c.

Insertions and Edges on Sheer Swiss and Batiste Cloth up to 12 inches wide—

15c. a yard, worth 25c.

Miller & Rhoads

See our ad. on Woman's page this evening's News Leader.

THEIR NAMES ON ROLL OF HONOR

Appended is the conclusion of the list of pupils whose high class of work during the past month places their names on the "roll of honor":

HIGH SCHOOL.

Post Graduate A.—Bessie Chappell, Nellie Morton, Lorrain Mason, Elsie Phillips.

Post Graduate B.—Louise Fitzgerald, Florence Johnson, Evelyn Waller, George Brothers.

Senior A I.—Bassett Hough, Alvin Hutzler, Brocknough Woodward, Edwin Whitham, Archie Berkeley, Lily Brower, Sadie Engelberg, Mary Hankins, Virginia Hechler, Eva Hewitt, Rosa Kirsch, Willie Monday, Pansy Paris, Mary Steinlein, Lily Trevitt, Alice Williams.

Senior A II.—Lelia Clowes, Hattie Spindler, Pauline Myer, Lelia Goddin, Rosa Marshall.

Senior B I.—Kirkwood Woody, Lelia Betty, Susie Hix, Mary Montague, Hazel Stinchfield, Florence Anderson.

Senior B II.—Pauline Shomaker.

Intermediate A I.—Edwin Heller, Raymond Strauss, Lela Dufford, Florence Gillman, Sadie Hiltner, Mary Saunders, Adelaide Sutherland, Branch Sutherland, Lucy Throckmorton, Ellen Witt.

Intermediate A II.—Reggie Mann, Ellen Carrington, Carolyn Bottelheimer.

Intermediate B I.—Virginia Sublett.

Intermediate B II.—Herbert Saunders, Marian Stern, Margaret Daugherty, Dorothy Hartung, Mary Phillips, Jessie Ham.

Intermediate B III.—Sadie Ford, Josephine Wyatt, Margaret Walcott.

Intermediate B IV.—Amelia Buck.

Junior A I.—Burrell Crump, Albert Edell, Tom Neal, Gus Wilcox, Robert Willis, Irma Braunman, Willie Crutchfield, Mamie Dwyer, Sallie Fitzgerald, Bertha Grady, Gretchen Hanewinkel, Mamie Jacob, Edna Jackson, Kate Jones, Helen Mason, Helen Morehouse, Flora Owen, Kathleen Richardson, Lena Rhineland, Louise Tobeln, Mary Traylor, Virginia Ware, Lettie Watts, Carrie Williamson.

Junior A II.—Walter Martin, Barlow Blinford, Lawrence Parson, Carrington Toland.

Junior A III.—Roland Harlow, Charles Schmidt, Carrie Boatright, Maggie Groselove, Jessie Oliver.

Junior B I.—Charles Brauer, Robert Beverly, Fritz Fitz, Ralph Ludwig, Lynn Payne, Joseph Douglas, Joseph Evans, Mabel Hopkins, Fannie McKee, Laura Sutherland, Marion Turner, Bessie Turner, Minnie Tignor, Mary Thinsley.

Junior B II.—Paul Ochlochslager, Miriam Smith, Ethel Evans.

Junior B III.—Mary Berkeley, Kate Blanford, Mildred Black, Annie Hulcher, Lela Wood Tyree.

Junior B V.—Mary Goodwin.

SPRINGFIELD SCHOOL.

First Primary Grade.—Elwood Harmon, Willie Jordan, Willie Jackson, Robt. Jackson, Rodd Lindsay, Lillian Moore, Walter Leonard, Bernard Patterson, Robert Patterson, Madeline Dwyer, Ethel Lower, Annie Metzger, Lynda Jennings, Florence Murray.

Second Primary Grade.—Wilson Brown, Harold Cayado, Clarence Duke, Cecil Grace, Carroll Hannon, Larkin Curry, Fred Butler, James Anderson, Edgar Crout, Willie Griffin, James Kelley, Virginia Mitchell, Louise Stewart.

Third Primary Grade.—Lizzie Duke, Louise Nuckley, Rudolph Day, Henry Bayless, Robinson Strimling, Lola Gaudin, Ada Hinkley, George Bayless, Ophelia Hall, Rodie Wright, Ralph O'Berry, Mabel Murray, Leslie Gaudin.

Fourth Primary Grade.—Clinton Ford, Ledia Jones, Dexter Parham, Gerie Vance, Ernestine Brizendine, Walter Meredith, Hunter Wagner.

Fifth Primary Grade.—John Ware, Willie Metzger, Lee Newman, Calvin Beasley, John Booker, Eva Wood, Cecil Williams, Lela Leflon, Ralph Hopkins, Lynn Childress, Helen Hampton.

Sixth Primary Grade.—Blanche Hawkins, Eva Kuhn, Norville Jennings, Jennie Parker, Genet Buchanan, Frank Cayado.

Seventh Primary Grade.—Virginia Lucy, Charles Bayless, Robinson Strimling, Rosa Ford, Bessie Bradley, Aurelia Hopkins, Alma Barnes.

Eighth Primary Grade.—Ruth Jones, Ruth Adams, Raymon Warren.

Ninth Primary Grade.—William Apple, Malinda Montgomery, Mattie Kilpatrick, Emma Meredith, Fannie Crowe, Mary Epps.

Tenth Primary Grade.—Ethel Smith, Mary Childress, Althea Eggleston, Archie Cayado.

Eleventh Primary Grade.—Lottie Shackelford, Willie Hopkins.

Twelfth Primary Grade.—Hamon Fisher, Mary Blythe, Grace Bradley, Bessie Parsons, Bertha Stubble, Mabel Veland.

Thirteenth Primary Grade.—Mary Bolling, Alma Bradley, Marie Hampton.

MADISON SCHOOL.

First Primary Grade.—Leonard Bryant, James Dunbar, Aubrey Land, Samuel Anderson, Dorothy Church, Mattie Kilpatrick, Emma Meredith, Fannie Crowe, Mary Epps.

Second Primary Grade.—Ethel Smith, Mary Childress, Althea Eggleston, Archie Cayado.

Third Primary Grade.—Lottie Shackelford, Willie Hopkins.

Fourth Primary Grade.—Hamon Fisher, Mary Blythe, Grace Bradley, Bessie Parsons, Bertha Stubble, Mabel Veland.

Fifth Primary Grade.—Mary Bolling, Alma Bradley, Marie Hampton.

Sixth Primary Grade.—Lillian Moore, Walter Leonard, Bernard Patterson, Robert Patterson, Madeline Dwyer, Ethel Lower, Annie Metzger, Lynda Jennings, Florence Murray.

Seventh Primary Grade.—Wilson Brown, Harold Cayado, Clarence Duke, Cecil Grace, Carroll Hannon, Larkin Curry, Fred Butler, James Anderson, Edgar Crout, Willie Griffin, James Kelley, Virginia Mitchell, Louise Stewart.

Eighth Primary Grade.—Lizzie Duke, Louise Nuckley, Rudolph Day, Henry Bayless, Robinson Strimling, Lola Gaudin, Ada Hinkley, George Bayless, Ophelia Hall, Rodie Wright, Ralph O'Berry, Mabel Murray, Leslie Gaudin.

Ninth Primary Grade.—Clinton Ford, Ledia Jones, Dexter Parham, Gerie Vance, Ernestine Brizendine, Walter Meredith, Hunter Wagner.

Tenth Primary Grade.—John Ware, Willie Metzger, Lee Newman, Calvin Beasley, John Booker, Eva Wood, Cecil Williams, Lela Leflon, Ralph Hopkins, Lynn Childress, Helen Hampton.

Eleventh Primary Grade.—Blanche Hawkins, Eva Kuhn, Norville Jennings, Jennie Parker, Genet Buchanan, Frank Cayado.

Twelfth Primary Grade.—Virginia Lucy, Charles Bayless, Robinson Strimling, Rosa Ford, Bessie Bradley, Aurelia Hopkins, Alma Barnes.

Thirteenth Primary Grade.—Ruth Jones, Ruth Adams, Raymon Warren.

Fourteenth Primary Grade.—William Apple, Malinda Montgomery, Mattie Kilpatrick, Emma Meredith, Fannie Crowe, Mary Epps.

Fifteenth Primary Grade.—Ethel Smith, Mary Childress, Althea Eggleston, Archie Cayado.

Sixteenth Primary Grade.—Lottie Shackelford, Willie Hopkins.

FOR DIVISION OF MOROCCO

Action of Brigands Believed to be Protest Against Such Contemplated Action.

PROPOSED SEIZURE COUNTRY

Secret Treaty Said to Have Been Again Agreed Upon Between France and Spain.

(Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.) PARIS, May 31.—M. Jean Hess, the eminent explorer, whose recent book on Morocco enjoyed a wide circulation throughout all Europe, arrived here tonight, and was interviewed at length by your correspondent regarding the true whereabouts of the abduction of Mr. Perdicaris and his nephew, M. Varley. He declares that there is much more underneath the surface than has already appeared. He believes that to some extent the action of the brigands is intended as a protest against the contemplated division of Morocco, and in the hope that the United States and Great Britain will prevent the contemplated seizure of the country by France and Spain.

INTERESTING SITUATION. "Raisuls," according to M. Hess, "is a former governmental functionary whose the Sultan has forgotten to pay, and he also hopes that in the ransom to be paid by the government he will secure arrears in pay and also wipe out several old scores by forcing the retirement of several officials with whom he is on friendly terms. The political situation created by the prompt action of the United States in sending warships to compel the release of the two hostages is a decidedly interesting one. I may remind you that in July, 1902, a projected treaty was drafted between Spain and France for the complete division of Morocco. This involved the armed conquest of the country. Great Britain interfered, and the matter was finally dropped. However, England and France are once more on friendly terms, and the treaty is being pushed forward with a new vigor. It now stands at the hands of the United States, and it is understood that another secret treaty has been prepared between France and Spain, on the same basis, except that Tangiers is to be neutralized as a port to England. The present action of the United States shows that she does not recognize any other power in Morocco than the Sultan, and that she intends to ignore any understanding arrived at between England, France and Spain, and to which she has presumably not been consulted.

REVOLT IS FERMENED. "The present revolt on the part of the Moorish pretender is undoubtedly fanned by French and Spanish agents to supply their governments with an excuse for intervention. Owing to the Raisul episode the United States has a strong feeling of enmity toward Morocco and can secure respect for herself. There need be no fear in the United States that the cost of the expedition cannot be met by Morocco, as the Banque De Paris is now preparing to issue a loan to the Sultan of fifty million francs."

LITTLE GIRL VICTIM OF AUTO ACCIDENT

(By Associated Press.) BOSTON, MASS., May 30.—Marion Holder, the six-year-old daughter of Herbert A. Holder, was run over and killed by an automobile at Roxbury to-day, and to-night Lieutenant Commander Edward H. Scribner, a naval constructor in the United States navy, the owner and operator of the automobile, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter. Later he was released in bonds of $3,000. He will be arraigned in court to-morrow. The police stated that Scribner drove quickly away after the accident, but this Scribner denies. He was arrested in Lowell.

HORSE AND RIDER COST NINETEEN THOUSAND

The contract for the Stuart monument has been let to Mr. Fred Moynihan, the sculptor, for $19,000. This amount does not include the pedestal, which will be purchased with the funds raised in excess of the contract price with Mr. Moynihan.

If the city will consent to contribute the $20,000, proposed the association, it is believed will erect with the monument a statue of the late Senator.

QUAY'S REMAINS TO LIE IN STATE

Public Will Have Opportunity of Viewing Body of the Late Senator. (By Associated Press.) READER, PA., May 30.—None but the immediate friends and relatives of the late Senator M. S. Quay were admitted to the house to-day. The remains are resting on the bed where the senator lay when death came, and he will not be moved until shortly before the family takes its final leave to-morrow. All details for the services to-morrow, when the public will have an opportunity to view the remains, have been arranged. R. R. Quay and W. M. Wright went to the cemetery to-day and selected the place for the senator's grave. His last resting place will be on the hill of his father, with the grave of his mother just beyond. Five children lie in a row at the foot of these graves. There will remain just room at the senator's side for Mrs. Quay's grave. The lot is about the center of the cemetery and is marked by a marble monument.

SENATOR QUAY'S WILL.

He Signed the Document Only on Day Before Death. PITTSBURG, PA., May 30.—Senator Quay last Friday signed his will, having previously destroyed the one he wrote while at Morgantown. The estate is valued at about $300,000, according to the calculation of William Montgomery, cashier of the Allegheny National Bank. Senator Quay, during his political career, was sometimes up and sometimes down, and he began amassing a trust fund, which he arranged so he could only use the interest to save himself from a financial collapse. This amounts to about $40,000, and will be divided among the members of the family. He also had some real estate in Pennsylvania and in Indian River, Fla., two valuable farms in Lancaster county, Pa., the house he lived in at Washington, about $25,000 worth of property in Beaver and his home, besides a number of securities. During the past two years he sold most of his stock securities, and he did not dabble in the stock market after he became ill. The estate is to be divided among his wife, sons and daughters. He made a number of bequests to his friends, but these he disposed of his valuables and relics.

SON MAY GO TO SENATE.

Is Richer Than His Father and May Ultimately Succeed Him. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PITTSBURG, PA., May 30.—J. Donald Cameron, Henry C. Frick, Francis L. Robbins, Francis J. Torrance, William Flinn, George T. Oliver, Attorney-General Knox and Representative Joseph Sibley are the names prominently mentioned as successors to Senator Quay. All have millions of dollars at their disposal. Each one has a peculiar backing that afforded the other, but in the main they are all local lights, excepting Don Cameron.

Robbins has been working assiduously during the last month to get legislative support. It is doubtful if he can land the prize, as the labor element backing him is not strong enough in the State. He has the anthracite and bituminous coal miners at his back, but the well-to-do business interests and politicians know him not. He hopes to accomplish what Senator Hanna did, but he never made a President, like Senator Hanna, who brought President McKinley prominently to the front.

The most probable story is the one that Don Cameron is to fill the unexpected term of Senator Quay. This was told by Richard Quay to one of his associates.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

FRANKLIN ACADEMY.

Governor Montague Makes Annual Address—The Methodists. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) FRANKLIN, VA., May 30.—The final exercises of the Franklin Military Academy were held in the Armory Hall Friday. The annual address was made by Governor A. J. Montague on "Ideals of Patriotism," and was a magnificent effort. He was met at the depot by the corps of cadets, under the command of Major S. Smith Lee, commandant, and escorted thence to the residence of Mr. R. J. Camp, his host on this occasion, and thence to the hall, where the address was delivered. Mrs. Montague accompanied the Governor. After the address the Governor and his wife were escorted by the cadets to Mr. Camp's residence, where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Camp and a number of invited friends, consisting of Professor Hugh G. Noffsinger, Colonel C. C. Vaughan, J. L. Camp, J. C. Parker, Dr. Gavin Rawls, Major S. Smith Lee, J. L. Barham, Professor John H. Watkins, Dr. J. F. Bryant and J. P. Gay. An elegant lunch was served, after which the Governor and his wife took the Seaboard Air Line train for Suffolk, where the Governor spoke before the Confederate Camp that night.

The medal for the best original essay was won by James A. Vaughan, of Southampton county. The second prize was won by John G. Everett, of Southampton county, son of Mr. R. J. Camp, who has the distinction of having won this medal for three sessions in succession.

The two medals awarded by the Kappa Epsilon Literary Society of the academy for the first and second prizes were presented in debate went to Percy G. Everett, of Southampton county, Va., and E. Norvell Davidson, of Buckingham county, Va.

Before he died Senator Quay deeded to his son the epitaph he wanted on his tombstone. He also told Richard that he wanted a plain marble slab on which should be carved as follows: "Matthew Stanley Quay, son of Rev. Anderson Beaton Quay and Mrs. Elizabeth Quay, born September 30, 1838, died—"

Before he died Senator Quay deeded to his son the epitaph he wanted on his tombstone. He also told Richard that he wanted a plain marble slab on which should be carved as follows: "Matthew Stanley Quay, son of Rev. Anderson Beaton Quay and Mrs. Elizabeth Quay, born September 30, 1838, died—"

SON MAY GO TO SENATE.

Is Richer Than His Father and May Ultimately Succeed Him. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) PITTSBURG, PA., May 30.—J. Donald Cameron, Henry C. Frick, Francis L. Robbins, Francis J. Torrance, William Flinn, George T. Oliver, Attorney-General Knox and Representative Joseph Sibley are the names prominently mentioned as successors to Senator Quay.

All have millions of dollars at their disposal. Each one has a peculiar backing that afforded the other, but in the main they are all local lights, excepting Don Cameron.

Robbins has been working assiduously during the last month to get legislative support. It is doubtful if he can land the prize, as the labor element backing him is not strong enough in the State. He has the anthracite and bituminous coal miners at his back, but the well-to-do business interests and politicians know him not. He hopes to accomplish what Senator Hanna did, but he never made a President, like Senator Hanna, who brought President McKinley prominently to the front.

The most probable story is the one that Don Cameron is to fill the unexpected term of Senator Quay. This was told by Richard Quay to one of his associates.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron's assistance.

Senator Quay tried to make a politician of Richard Quay and failed. He sent him to the business world, and the American Tin Plate Company. Since then he has made millions of dollars, and "Dick" Quay is a richer man than was his father. Much of his money was made in enterprises in which Don Cameron was associated. They are now associated in vast land schemes in New Mexico and other Western States and Territories. It is surmised that Senator Quay died with the ambition to perpetuate his family name in the upper house. Hence, it was expected to-day that Richard Quay, the unexpected term of Senator Quay, would be succeeded, if possible, by Richard Quay, with Don Cameron